

89. The Pita Pit

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho / No. of units: 100+

International healthy pita chain The Pita Pit has gotten top marks in many business publications for its growth. That's because this growing concept has painted itself as an accessible sandwich eatery with a Lebanese spin. Ethnic-minded eaters can get good-for-you toppings like baba ghanoush or hummus, while more traditional palates can enjoy a familiar lunch with fewer carbs from the thinner bread. The brand capitalizes on its conscientious approach with a reduced-cal "Resolution Solution" menu and LEED certification for many of its stores.